In baseball our boys have done well, having won all the games that they have played so far.

We are sorry to hear that the Coleman school has been closed on account of whooping cough, and therefore the games with that school have had to be called off.

J. W. VERGE Principal.

Should Be Reserved

A suggestion has been made by those interested in Crows' Nest Lake as a popular summer retreat, to memorialize the government to have a certain portion of land adjoining the lake reserved for the use of the public as a place for standing horses and rigs and also as an approach to and landing from the lake.

The site most desirable for the above purposes would be on the old construction town-site, the northwest quarter of section 9, west of the fifth meridian, in Township 8. This property comprises about nine to twelve acres and is at present the only place along the lakeshore affording conveniences.

Crows' Nest Lake is destined to become one of the most popular pleasure and holiday resorts in the Province of Alberta, and the government should not overlook the necessity of reserving at least a convenient right-of-way to the lake.

Last week a number of parties visited the lake for the purpose of arranging boat house sites, camp sites and fishing camps. We understand that they were very favorably impressed with the opportunities offered that they will install a number of gasoline launches, canoes, tents, etc., for the use of the increasing numbers of visitors to this beauty spot.

The Order of Owls Organize

The Order of Owls was instituted in Blairmore on Sunday night last with a membership of one hundred and eighty-six. About ninety members of the order were in attendance at the organization, which promises to be a close rival numerically for some of the older lodges of the metropolis.

On Sunday afternoon, June the 15th, the charter closes, when the organizers, Messrs Scale and Julian, will complete their mission by installing the officers of the new lodge.

The lodge is at present occupying temporary quarters in the Miners' Hall, but hopes to secure the use of some larger building for the accommodation of its members.

Excursions to Frank

For the benefit of pleasure seekers the C. P. R. will have the westbound "flyer" stop at Frank on Sunday mornings. Special excursion rates of fare and a third for the round trip from point between Frank and Lethbridge have been granted, and it is expected that the number of visitors to the Sanatorium, the popular health and pleasure retreat of The Pass, will far exceed that of last season.

The management of the Sanatorium are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to make the stay of visitors pleasant and the entire and surrounding appearances of the hotel accommodating and inviting.

Drowning at Bellevue

A drowning fatality occurred at Bellevue on Monday, when the little four-year-old son of J. Janigo met a watery grave. It appears that the little child had been playing around a narrow bridge crossing the river and tumbled over into the swift current. An alarm was immediately made and the dragging of the riverbed ensued under the supervision of the mounted police, but so far the body has not been located.

Some strange coincidences are quoted in connection with the drowned child and relatives. On a couple of previous occasions the same child had been rescued from drowning, once by his oldest brother, a boy of about eight years, who risked his own life in a plunge after his brother after noticing several older boys lacking in their promptness to rescue.

An uncle of the child was killed in the mine at Bellevue a few weeks ago; and the child's mother is now reported in a delicate state of health.

Fernie Italian May

Have Met Foul Play

Fernie, B. C., June 4.—A member of the Italian colony named Forner Dominica, who has been employed at the coke ovens and who resided on the hill behind the ovens, disappeared about a week ago and no trace of him could be found until last Sunday when his body was discovered in the waters of Coal Creek, a mile above the city and opposite the high line switch of the Crows' Nest Coal Company's railway.

He was supposed to have considerable money and had seemed for some time past to be on the verge of insanity. When the body was drawn from the creek it was seen that his pockets were pulled out and several cuts were noticeable on his head and face. These suggested foul play but might have been caused by driftwood in the creek.

An inquest was held in the afternoon before Coroner Wilkes.

Improving the Illad
You talk as if you friend was a greater poet than Homer!
However! Well, I say, if Percy had taught that honest stuff he'd have made it rhyme!

Some boy friends of Darwin once plotted a surprise for the great naturalist.
"Carry him away," they glued onto it a beetle shell, the wings of a butterfly and the long legs of a grasshopper. Then putting the creature in a box, they took it to Darwin and asked him what it could be claiming that they had caught it in the fields.

Did it hum when you caught it? he asked.

Oh, yes, sir, they answered, nudging one another, it hummed like everything.

Then, said the philosopher, it is a humbug.

KING GEORGE'S VALETS

About the Royal Gentleman's Gentlemen

His Majesty has three valets—a chief and two assistant valets.

The chief valet has been with His Majesty for the past twelve years. His duties are to superintend the care of the royal robes, attendants at the court in the royal dressing room and to take all instructions concerning the king's clothes which may be given him by one of the private secretaries.

His Majesty's clothes are kept in a large room adjoining the dressing room. In this room the robes are lined with wardrobe which are divided into two sections—one section contains the king's uniforms, and the other His Majesty's ordinary clothing, and the chief valet is in charge of both.

Ovenight the chief valet is instructed regarding the uniforms, if any new ones are to be worn, and the suites of clothes which are to be worn following day and these are placed by the assistant valets in the royal dressing-room. Before a suit is put on, it is taken into the royal dressing room and is inspected by the chief valet to see that it is properly brushed and ironed and ready for wear.

The king may be noted, nevertheless, wearing his uniform days running. As a rule, His Majesty would not wear the same suit oftener than once in the week, and when it had been worn about two days, it would be put out of the royal wardrobes.

King George customarily rises at 6 o'clock when he takes a cup of light coffee which the chief valet brings him directly the king enters his dressing-room. His Majesty then has his bath which is always in his bathroom the chief valet puts the laces and studs into His Majesty's shirt, puts on an assortment of ties of various colors and places a bow-tie or shows the king intends to wear on a mahogany boot stand, and then retires.

The king dresses himself without the aid of others, except when putting on his uniform, when the chief valet is generally in attendance.

When the king travels, the chief assistant valet is in charge of His Majesty's luggage, which is done by the assistant valets.

A list of everything that is to be packed is given to the chief valet on the eve of the king's departure.

The chief valet inspects the luggage at the king's destination the list is checked over by the chief valet, whilst the attendant valets remain.

The king's dress uniform is a well educated and very well informed man.
He is a French linguist, speaking French, German and Italian, adding the native tongue perfectly.

He has traveled all over the world with the king, and is known and held in high esteem by all the great European monarchs. He has had many tokens of their esteem. King George rarely or never tries on a suit of clothes, and seldom is seen by the courtiers in the honor of his Majesty's custom.

When the king desires to have new clothes he informs the chief valet of the desired pattern, and the chief valet inspects the suit when it is fitted on the king, and all the necessary directions concerning it. A suit is generally fitted on the model three times.

Lord Curzon of Kedleston has been long noted for his penchant for making cutting and cold remarks. Some years ago he was the railway official sent to test the train. Lord Curzon was famous for punctuality, to address a meeting. Lord Curzon was in a hurry. The train made its last stop at the station, the minister was eloquent, and his prayers seemed to cover the whole category of human affection.

After the services one of the deacons asked the old negro what he thought of the new minister.

"I don't think he offers up a good service, Joe."

Ah mos' suhltainly does, boss. Why, dat man axed de boy to things dat he had till tis train gets in."

Most of the English railways have a regulation that passengers are required to pay a stipulated fare to take with them certain pet animals or birds.

A short time ago a maid lady appeared at one of the company's stations with a parrot and a parakeet.

She had a dog, a cat and a small turtle. The dog and the parrot were silent, but the parakeet uttered the rules, but in order that the passenger might take all her pets, the guard proceeded to classify them as follows:

"I am a dog, he said; rabbits are dogs, squirrels in cages are parrots but this 'ere tortoise—"

He stopped and scratched his head, thinking hard, and finally said,

"I am a parrot, an idea came to him. This is a hinsack, and hinsacks travel free."

War an Expensive Luxury

Jules Roche, the French statistician warns that the cost of living in Europe would be an expensive luxury.

He says that the Franco-German war cost about $1,665,000 a day and that took a toll of 1,000,000 men.
The cost was about $1,600,000 for the first two months with a minimum of $6,000,000 a day after two months.

This would be the bare minimum expenses for 20,000,000 men, but the actual cost would be vastly greater, seeing that commerce and agriculture would come to a standstill.

Hello!
Hello!

That's Mr. Verdigris?

Yes, I'm L. C. Jones. Do you—

Whv, how do you do, Eiste! Do I know you well? You should say!

What have you been doing to your house?

Made Him Anxious

In a country town in the English Midlands there is a man who is so noted for his conversational abilities that he is often invited to speak at functions and dinners.

The chief valet has been with His Majesty for the past twelve years. His duties are to superintend the care of the

Mr. L——, have my Bill brought as soon as possible.

What is the matter, my dear Sir?
Inquired the anxious landlord. Has nothing happened?

Nothing, nothing. Only I want to get away from here before that man gets out.

He was a man who gave little and got much. Today, for instance, he had a clothes-brush, a basin of

THE RACCOON AT HOME

HE IS AN EXPERT CLAM-FISHER AND IS FOND OF APPLES.

Canadian Naturalist Tells of the Habits of One of America's Most Interesting Fur-Bearing Animals—Raccoons Will Live In Deserts Caves of Foxes or Woodchucks and Often Make Their Nests In Hay-Mows.

I wandered across the fields as the shades of twilight were giving way to a bright moonlight, and as I drew near the river I heard a whistle. Raccoon no doubt! Sitting down quietly, I waited for some time. Then came a faint splashing in the water. Still I could see nothing. Another wait of ten minutes and the reward came. There was a splash, a yell, and a long series of ripples. Wading in the shallow water, they reached down into the waters. One would fetch up a clam or crayfish, the other would be a scamp for a moment, then dash it up, open the shell, wash the clam, and devour it. The careful manner in which they washed all this kind of fare proved of more than passing interest.

A wild grape vine growing close by was inspected, fruit sampled, then carefully devoured in silence. Was it a call? They all at once started across the field, and soon were lost to view. As I returned to the house I passed a rattling sound in the straw. There was a rattling sound in the straw. Morning there was evidence that my friends of the previous evening had sampled the milky cobs of corn after passing through the outside, where no doubt they sampled some tempting "snows."

One evening thus spent watching these pretty animals gave a hundred times more pleasure than hunting and shooting them. Their routes invariably lay along streams and ditches, and following such, I have often been able to find the towns and villages at night during autumn. I recall having seen a mother raccoon and three young climb a tree near Edenvale, in the town of Clifton. I pointed them out to a number of persons who informed me that there were a few all the time along the Old River Gorge, near Niagara Falls.

When winter sets in, they usually retire to dens in trees or hollow logs, and not a few live in the unused dens of foxes or woodchucks. In these dens they remain until late in the state until the latter part of February or early in March, when the males begin to ramble. This is the beginning of the mating season. Mr. Webb, of Edenvale, one day when hunting foxes, had his dogs run a fox into a den. In digging Reynard out, he accidentally two foxes. Mr. Webb, Messrs. H. Adamson and W. Webb, of Edenvale, tracked a male raccoon to a large elm tree. Felling the tree, they found a fine nest containing a hive of wild honey bees in the same limb of the tree. The raccoons had just commenced to feed upon the honey. Two pails of fine clean honey was also taken.

A full grown female raccoon will give birth to from four to seven "kits" at a time. I have known a mother raccoon to give birth to six in a den in a bay haw in an old log-harn alongside of one of the most traveled roads in Simcoe county. There she remained all day and all night. Often an inquisitive pair of eyes would peer over the edge of the den, only to be met by the steady stare of the large snapping eyes of the mother. She showed no fear or anger at any time. She removed them to the woods one evening.

While a boy I captured a young raccoon and took him in a cage and entertained myself with visions of a jelly pot. That night the mother raccoon came right up to the cage and bit a hole through the base of the cage and set her free. She had to face the danger of a strong collie dog meeting her. When I saw the footprints and work of such a master, I was pleased she had won out.

I recall a fight my faithful collie had with a large raccoon. I never saw a harder battle. It was nip and tuck all the time. Finally the dog got a corner, where two logs lay at right angles. Then the dog lost ground. Two friends and myself watched the combat under a log. We lay down at our feet bleating and beaten, while the raccoon ran off to a safe retreat in a tree close by. I never saw this dog beaten in battle with another animal. He had the strength and will to kill a large bear without assistance.

A large raccoon will weigh from twelve to fifteen pounds. They are covered with a heavy grey fur. On good specimens the fur is quite black along the back. The head, owing to the short neck, has a flat appearance, with ears more prominent. The face is light grey, with a splash of black around the eyes. The ears are short like a cat's. The fore legs are short with a thick paw, and the hind legs are long and claws the entire length of the paw being about two and a half inches. The hind legs are longer and more powerful, being built more for running than for jumping. The hind paw is about six inches from the point of the claws to the heel, the body of the foot being shaped similar to that of a cat.

There are no native raccoons in the Belgian Congo. In every community there is the village blacksmith, who can fashion knives and spears of a certain quality, and there are also village experts (alwayz) women in weaving, pottery making and kindred occupations.

Glass Structure.
In order to determine the structural quality of glass, it is necessary to corrode the surface with hydrofluoric acid and thus reveal the inferior to inspect very well. Mark Robinson in Saturday Night.

Catching a Carp.
Anglers have many superstitions, but probably the most curious is a recipe for catching carp, which was to the effect that they could always be taken with a gold hook and that if the gold was perfectly pure no bait would be needed.

Rear Admirals.
The first nine rear admirals in the United States navy receive each a salary of $5,000 a year, the second nine, $10,000 and captain $4,000.

Lighting in South Africa.
In South Africa, where thunderstorms are terrific, lightning often strikes the beds of ironstone, and blue flames, sometimes firing buildings, are alleged to play about such ironstone outcrops two or three hours after a storm.

Berlin.
Plate glass, plasters and policemen are the three most striking features of Berlin, says a London paper, but the lighting of the streets is a good fourth.

Carrier Pigeons.

During the siege of Paris the practical utility of carrier pigeons was demonstrated. It was discovered that the scientific breeding of birds had been carefully observed ever since. The ministry of war maintains control over all the carrier pigeons in the country. The price of a carrier at Havre varies from $3.00 for an ordinary subject to $250 or more for a prize winner in a race.

Cost of Glass.

The cost of glass would be much cheaper if it were not for the great amount of breakage in the manufacture and transportation of the article.

Gold as Medicine.

To the ordinary uses to which gold is put the natives of India add that it is somewhat curious. According to a bulletin of the Missouri Mining and Manufacturing Co., in the form of this leaf is swallowed in India for medicinal purposes.

Ash Wednesday.
The earliest Ash Wednesday was on Feb. 3 in the year 337 A. D.

Turpines.

When turpines are young wash them carefully and boil without peeling. You will find the thick resin will cook and serve as part of the vegetable and the flavor will be much improved.

Perian Women.
With the Persian one cannot discuss his women folk. To ask a Persian about his wife is a grave breach of etiquette. The most you can do is to ask about the "mother of his son." If he does not answer he does not mention them. They are a mysterious people.

Lemon Juice.
Lemon juice with hot water forms an excellent liver tonic. Stout people, especially, will find it extremely valuable. It should be taken before breakfast every morning.

Mound Mazy.

The highest point in the state of New York is Mount Marcy, an Adirondack mountain, 5,344 feet above sea level, according to the United States geological survey. The average or mean elevation of the state is estimated at 900 feet.

A Weighty Title.

The chairman of the country bird group of an ornithological society in Germany rejoices in this title which ornaments his visiting cards. Karlsruhe Vogelzuchtvereinsvorsitzender.

Inanity on the Increase.
The number of volumes of all civilized countries are now overwhelmed with patients as never before. Dr. T. H. Bayliss of London, a leading brain specialist, predicts that in fifty years half the world's population will be insane.

A Korean Custom.

On the last day of each year the Korean throws out of his house a straw image of a man, which is said to carry sin and bad luck with it.

Grass Eggs.

When a hen is made sick eating too freely of grass she lays what are known as "grass eggs." Grass eggs are poor stuff. They have an unpleasant flavor, and the yolks wobble around in a weak and watery white and is greenish and dull in color.

Trial Trip.
In order to gauge his average speed a vessel, when on her trial trip is made to run four times over a measured mile—with twice against the tide.

Mines Fires.
Chemicals are more effective in fighting mine fires than water.

ROMANCE OF A RIFLE.

R. Linton a Soldier With Two Wives.
Twenty-two Years Apart.

While Mr. Frederic Martyn was serving in Africa with the French Foreign Legion there came under his notice an incident that he records in "Life in the Legion." The legion had advanced against the Dahomey army and was in pursuit of the black warriors.

A Dahomey warrior was killed in the act of leveling his gun at Captain Batreau of the legion from behind a cotton tree on the side of a rocky hill. As he fell, his rifle went off, hitting the tree trunk very hard. Captain Batreau saw that it was an old chassepot and picked it up out of curiosity. Suddenly he became very much interested. He examined it carefully and at last exclaimed with a gasp of astonishment.

"Well, this is a miracle! Here is the very rifle that was made in 1870 during the war with Germany! See that hole in the butt? That was made by a Prussian bullet! I could tell the gun apart from a million by the hole alone. He must be a soldier, as he is well, which is evidence enough for anybody." Who would have thought it possible that I should pick up in Africa, as a sergeant, twenty-two years ago? It is in fact.

Captain Batreau was able to prove that the rifle had indeed been his, and he received permission to keep it.

THE COAL SACK IN THE SKY.

It is Visible Only Because It Contains Nothing That Is Visible.

Immediately below the upper stars of the Milky Way the Southern Cross there is a black patch in the sky, dark, sack shaped and mysterious.

Scientifically accurate astronomers explain that it is not a patch, but rather something which becomes visible by reason of the anomaly that it contains nothing.

The lay mind, preferring reality to abstract truth, is somewhat startled to learn that an object is seen because there is nothing in it to see, but no one can dispute the fact. The coal sack is visible because it contains nothing.

In other words, it is a vast hole in the stellar system in which there is not even a pinch of stellar dust to shed a flicker of luminosity. It is typically and absolutely the quintessence of blackness.

But it is so and in contradiction of all preconceived notions the human eye can see it without the aid of a telescope or other instrument.

Between the stars of the Milky way there are many little holes in the stellar system, though by comparison, that is nothing but a speck. Let us turn our gaze to the south. There need not be a decided division to share in its advantages; hence the "baby sack."

All over the country there were men and women who entered vigorously into the business of carrying babies in their arms and depositing them at the gates of the founding hospital. This hospital was first established it was understood that its operations would be confined to London and its environs. But the people of the country towns and villages heard of this new hospital and decided to share in its advantages; hence the "baby sack."

Natural houses grew up in connection with the traffic. But even apart from them, the mortality among the "posted" babies was terrible. Thus, out of 14,034 received at London in four years, only 4,400 lived to be "apprenticed out," being a mortality of more than 70 per cent.

Eventually parliament passed a law forbidding the practice, and the "baby post" ceased.—London Answer.

That the "Baby Post" Once Did a Rushing Business in England.

There once flourished in England a regular "baby post," the rates of postage being fixed on a strictly business basis according to distance traversed.

It was a service of the Royal Infirmary in connection with the Foundling Hospital in Guildford street. When this hospital was first established it was understood that its operations would be confined to London and its environs. But the people of the country towns and villages heard of this new hospital and decided to share in its advantages; hence the "baby post."

Blake BlairmoreA Stopping Point

It is high time for the Blairmore board of trade to revive their agitation with the C.P.R. for the installation of a stand-pipe and the making of Blairmore as a regular stopping point for the Soo-Spokane "flyer."

As will be remembered, the board under the able presidency of R. W. Coulthard, took the matter up with the railway company about two years ago. At that time and since then several gratifying and encouraging replies have been received from the company, the last stating that a stand-pipe would be installed here immediately the water system was completed and an extension to the most convenient point put in by the town.

Since that time the matter has been let drop, in spite of the fact that the water system has been completed and the town is in a better position to supply a stand-pipe than any other stopping point in the province.

The importance of the central position of Blairmore fully warrants the making of it a regular stopping point for the Soo-Spokane "flyer," and it is hoped that both the board of trade and the town council will get busy and bring the matter to a successful issue.

How Blairmore Aspires To Baseball Honors

Thursday afternoon's baseball game between the town and Cement Works gave our artist a chance to get busy, and we reproduce a few of the many funny positions assumed by the Blairmore aspirants for baseball honors.

The second shows Payette, a star player, looking to umpire Briscoe for advice.

In the centre is Ollie Olson, having been driven back by men from Providence, just in an ace of being hit by the ball at the hand of Pollock.

The lower picture is Matson, holding a "swell" position, from which pose he purportedly made a record dash; and No. 4 shows Pollock collapsed beneath Fetter at the finish of the seventh inning.

Final Draft of Stations Medicine Hat, June 4 - The Medi-

Excursion to Blairmore

Arrangements have been made with the C.P.R. by the Oddfellows of Lethbridge for excursion rates to Blairmore on July 24th, for a fraternity picnic. The three lodges of Lethbridge as well as lodges from towns in that neighborhood, including Grassy Lake, Taber, Raymond and Cardston, and intermediate points, will join in the big celebration.

The Oddfellows of The Pass will endeavor to give the visitors a loyal reception, and it is expected the attendance will be the largest known to Southern Alberta.

Sports and other picnic features will be on the programme.

Dick Marshall to

Box Frank Peters

Arrangements have been made for a twelve round boxing contest between Frank Peters, of Butte, Montana, and Dick Marshall, of local fame, the bout to be pulled off at the Blairmore opera house on Saturday, June 14th.

Peters has quite a credible record, having fought and won against Ben Mitchell in 4 rounds, Ted Jones in 20 rounds, Young Brown in 10 rounds, sailor Jones in 20 rounds, as well as a number of other bouts against men who had gained high ring honors. He last year served as boxing instructor at the Athlete Club, Butte, Montana.

He is 6 ft. 1 in. height, 165 lbs., weighs 23 years of age. Marshall weighs 158, is 5 ft. 10 inches in height, 21 years of age and has not yet had defeat.

The Rex Theatre at Coleman was destroyed by fire last night.

The Blairmore football eleven go to Hosmer tomorrow to play a league match.

Owing to the large stock on hand and more goods to dispose of at less than cost, and to give the public a chance, we will continue our sale over pay day, thus ending on Tuesday, June 17th - Blairmore Trading Co., "the sign of the Red Flag."

The Town baseball team defeated the Cement Works' on Thursday to the tune of 6 to 4. The teams were composed of: Town - H. Benson, W. Boyd, G. A. Passmore, W. Turner, C. Roy, H. Pollock, H. Lindsey, J. Turner, C. Lewis; Cement Co. - J. Woodrake, H. Mattson, W. Baker, O. Olson, R. Beard, J. Fetter, C. Middleton, H. Smith, B. Payette.

SENT SIXTY MILES FOR GIN PILLS

Mrs. S. C. Carpenter, of Laramie, Dak., has needed Gin Pills badly. He says: "I had been suffering some time with my kidneys and Urine. The pain was something awful, and no relief could be obtained. I got a doctor, and sent my chum 60 miles to get them, and in less than six hours I felt relief. In two days the pain stopped entirely, and I day after day feel as well as ever." So, a box for $1.50. Sample free. If you write National Drug and Chemical Co., of Canada Limited, Toronto, 126.

TORTOISE SHELL GLASSES.

I CAN stand for the chap with the worn shirt. And the boy with his trousers upturned. And the man with the hat made of plush I assert. I can stand, though the fad I have I can stand for the guy with the white in his vest. And the man grin when he passes. But a another smile when I pass on the wills. The guy with the tortoise shell glasses. I don't mind the man with the rakin' With the bow in the back nor the fellow. Who takes off each shoe with an up to date spat. Nor the brother whose gloves are bright The fur coated geek I don't quash with now. That park is being worn by all classes. But I'm ready to flee when dandy I see— The guy with the tortoise shell glasses I can put up with him who must think of sex. With a row of pearl buttons and note In silence the man though I secretly With the braid on the edge of his coat. The man with the handkerchief worn to No longer my feelings harasses, But I do yearn to smile with my left and The guy with the tortoise shell glasses—Detroit Free Press.

Rejected.

He gave palpable evidence of weighing in the neighborhood of 240, and he towered six feet four inches into the air. He looked as if the chain pion heavyweight of the prize ring had been suspended from his shoulders before the wind. By his side stood a little woman five feet ten and possibly ninety pounds in weight. She had the meek and subdued look of a woman who had borne much. While they waited for their car on a corner a pass by heard the giant say: "Can't you let me have a quarter, Jeannie?" Jeannie's voice cut the air like a blade as she said: "No, we're here, Jim. Bagger, didn't tell you before we left home that 10 cents was all I intended you should have to spend? I sure did, I should think you had been married to me long enough to know that when I say a thing I mean it. I think I see you on seagulls' such stuff! Now, you make any more fuss an' you'll stay home the next time I come to town!"—Judge.

So Generous of Him.

"So bad old Johnson has failed. Too bad! He promised me something yesterday, but now in his trouble I won't hold him to it." That's very generous of you. What was it?

"His daughter's hand in marriage."—Chicago News.

FINE POKER.

How the Governor of Idaho Outguesed a Drunken Player.

A LTHOUGH a drunkard, Taft is not a poker player and takes no interest in any cards except bridge, he pronounces the following to be the best poker story he ever heard: The governor of Idaho was playing bridge with a drunken, and at one stage in the game the governor looked at his hand and remarked:

"If you give me a queen and turn this into a poker game I will bet you $100 on the hand."

The drunkard looked at his hand and proclaimed in great excitement: "And I will raise you $1,000 if you take it!"

The governor accepted the raise, and the hands were laid down on the table. The governor held four aces, the drunkard three kings, and the others signs of great mental distress, separated himself with some difficulty from the $1,100.

Then he looked at the governor as if greatly bewildered and made the request:

"I ask you just one question?"

"Yes," laughed the governor, who was in high good humor.

"Well, governor, will you tell me what is thunder you wanted that question?"—Popular Magazine.

Bilitated a Gambler.

An overwrought business man bolted headlong from a lunch room the other day and pounded on the counter:

"Ham'n'egg sandwich, quick!" he ordered.

There was a wait of five minutes, and the man at the counter laid a roast beef sandwich in front of him.

"I didn't order this!" yelled the customer. "Bring me a ham'n' egg sandwich!"

Another wait, and the counter man served the exasperated customer with a cup of coffee. The overwrought business man pulled his derby down over his ears and headed for the door.

"Where are you going?" demanded the counter man.

"To a restaurant where the cook doesn't gamble with the food!" snapped the overwrought citizen as he disappeared.—Washington Post.

They All Say It.

Once upon a time there were a fellow and a girl. The fellow came calling. He meant business. After awhile the friends of the girl began to josh her about him, asking her when it was going to be, and all that. She replied. Among other things she said:

"Marry that pill? I guess not." That snappy little thing? Not for me!

"I wouldn't marry him if he was the last man on earth."

"Oh, he's well enough in his way, but he's not my notion of a husband."

"I wish you people would stop your noise. He's absolutely nothing to me."

"I guess you think I must be pretty hard up to want to marry that."

The Sequel—And did she subsequently marry a prince? Not exactly. She married "that." They all do—Brooklyn Times.

Willing.

Mr. Gayport—How much does that reckless man of mine owe you for embroiling you've done for him?

Miss Sweetly—Only his love.

Mr. Gayport—Well, I've never complained about paying his debts.—Chicago News.

The Reply.

A lady of advanced age required the services of a page boy and advertised, "Young wanted."

One of her dearest friends sent her by the next post a bottle of Blank's hair oil, a siler and skin lighter, a pot of fairy bloom, a set of false teeth and a fancy wig.—London Opinion.

Big Letters.

Giggs—Say, did your wife ever find any letters in your pocket and raise a row?

Bridges—She's found X's and V's there, but she always kept quiet about it.—Baltimore American.

Diplomacy.

Always forgive your enemy when he has you down.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

There Are Others.

Mrs. Mortimer says she derives more pleasure from the education of her children than anything else.

Yes. She's never busy unless they're at their kindergarten.—Fun.

Who Cares?

"Well, I'm kind of sorry it's a girl."

"Nonsense. She may be president of the United States some day!"—Fun.

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

Women's commonest ailment—the root of so much of their ill-health—promptly yields to the gentle but certain action of Na-Drus-Co laxatives. 25c. a box, 12 yrs. drugist's. NATIONAL DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED.

The Tomato
A doctor ascribes to the tomato the most powerful cleansers of the liver and other organs. The tomato is generally used as an aperient; tomatoes may be substituted. The tomato is probably one of the most wholesome and least harmful medicinal agents known.

Second, that a chemical extract may be obtained from it that will supersede the use of calomel in the cure of diarrhoea.

Third, that it has been successfully used in cases of diarrhoea.

Fourth, that when used as an aperient, it is almost a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion.

Fifth, that it should be constantly used, either cooked, raw or in the form of catsup.

A negro porter in a barber shop made a speech one night at his colleague's expense. It was a jest, but a jest causing a sensation among his brothers on account of the number of big words it contained. His employer heard him, and the next day he was twitting him when he saw him absorbed in a dictionary.

What are you doing, Sam? he asked, looking up a few more big words in the speech?

No, sir, he replied. That's that! that's the Jas' translatin' the speech Ah made las' night.

NERVOUS DISEASES IN THE SPRING

Cured By Toning the Blood and Strengthening the Nerves

It is the opinion of the best medical authorities, after long observation, that nervous diseases are more common and more serious in the spring than in any other season of the year.

Vital changes in the body after long winter months, may cause much more trouble than the familiar spring weakness and weariness from the removal of artificial heat, from the change of environment, from the various forms of nerve troubles at their worst, and then again, when any other cause of blood-making nerves is tampered with.

The antiquated custom of taking purgatives in the spring is useless, for the system really needs strengthening. While purgatives often stop the bowels, leaving you weak.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine, for they actually make the new red red blood corpuscles, and cure the tired, worn-out nerves, and thus cure the many forms of nervous disorders.

They cure also such other forms of spring trouble as the common poor health, weakness in the limbs, as well as remove unsightly pimples and eruptions. In fact they unfailingly bring new health and strength to men and women, and especially to young children and old people.

Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or $1.00 for boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Undone

Hard to Prove

Is there tinge of jealousy in Miles' Gere's criticism of Isadora Duncan's dancing?

It is very safe, she observes, to review the dances of 2,000 years ago, but surely no one is going to be able to prove those weren't the dances.

At an annual series of races for all comers, the sun was blazing down on a field of hot, excited horses and men, all in a tall, raw-boned beauty.

Awful Blow

Yes, said Sillthers, Mickey was my dearest friend, and I shall never cease to mourn his death. It was a terrible blow from which I shall never recover. Why—I thought you married his widow, said Simpson.

Why—ahem—why, yes I did; but—

Here Sillthers subsided into a deep and uncomfortable silence.

Late again this morning, Murphy said the head clerk, as the office-boy crept into the office almost half an hour after his appointed time. This was the third time this week that you can manage to be more punctual. Sure, son, I'm sorry! the boy replied. The truth is I overslept myself, dreamt I was at a replayed Cupid's annual meeting. Well, what's that got to do with it?

Father, son, one side played foos, and the other was just as foos. So it was a draw, and that blasted fool of a referee ordered extra time, and I had to stay and see the finish.

CHARLES WHOOOTEN, Port Mulgrave.

A girl from the country who had run away from home to a city where she was busy all day, went to a doctor one evening to have him extract a tooth which had been troubling her. She told him what he would charge for the operation.

Five dollars with gas, two without, was the answer.

Oh, said the girl, then I'll drop in by daylight.

On the retirement of a rich manufacturer, who had been consistently stingy in his business career, his workmen presented him with an illuminated address. One of them, however, by one of their number, he was obviously touched by the gift, and acknowledged it in a nest little speech.

But there's one thing about it I can't quite understand, he added: What does that little sketch in the corner represent?

It was a picture of you giving your workmen a supper, the artist explained.

But I never did such a thing in my life!

I know that sir, and my mates said you never would, but I'd put it in just to give you a sporting chance of proving 'em all wrong.

The artist produced a sketch of the fare-well supper was a great success.

But there's one thing about it I can't quite understand, he added: What does that little sketch in the corner represent?

A new bridge is being erected across Lyon Creek south of the railroad on Main street.

An Interesting Trip

Edmonton, Alta., June 2.—Fifty-three hundred miles, largely through virgin territory, is the extent of a trip undertaken by James K. Cornwall of Edmonton, until recently representative in the provincial parliament for Athabasca, accompanied by Emerson Hough of Chicago, B. K. Miller of Milwaukee, C. A. Luperti, a moving picture expert, and George B. Fraser of Edmonton.

They are now on the way to the hinterland of Alberta and British Columbia and will penetrate the Yukon territory, travelling by steam boats, rafts and canoes and hiking across the country on foot.

The itinerary shows a continuous journey from Edmonton to Fort McPherson, thence across the Rocky mountains by way of Pec. Portage, down the Porcupine river to the Yukon river and up that stream to Dawson and White Horse, returning by way of Vancouver. The first stage of the trip, from Athabasca to Fort McMurray, will be by snow, after which the explorers will travel to Fort McPherson by steamboat.

The journey to the Canadian Rockies will be made in canoes, after which there is a portage of 60 miles across the backbone of the continent, the rest of the way being covered on foot.

Mr. Luperti, who will make photographic records of the first organized invasion of the little known districts north of the 55th parallel, was engaged in a similar capacity throughout the Russo-Japanese war. His pack included 10,000 feet of film, weighing 200 pounds. Several dramas, with primitive Indians as actors, will be staged in the north country, and it is also intended to take photographs of big game hunters and fur traders in the north.

Macleod clerks have succeeded in getting the half-holiday. The weekly half-holiday has been in vogue in the Crows' Nest Pass for several years.

J. M. Carter will conduct an auction sale of furniture and other articles north of the Cosmopolitan hotel on Monday afternoon, next at 2:30 sharp.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

Both the schools were closed for the King's birthday.

Mrs. Jas. Callan and Mrs. Byia visited Coleman on Tuesday.

The band gave an open-air concert on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Maggie Burrows has gone to visit her brother at Granum.

The Socialist hall, we understand, is being fitted up for a pic-nic show.

Mr. Cameron, who has been coal inspector here for the G.P.R., has been moved to Coleman.

Master Joe Newton gave a birthday party to a number of his young friends on Monday.

Mrs. William Stafford, of Diamond City, is in the camp visiting her sister Mrs. Arthur Amos.

David Hyslop, of Coleman, occupied the pulpit at the local church on Sunday night last.

Robert Connally, who had been visiting at Pincher Creek for about a week, returned home on Friday.

P. J. Ryan, of Cowley, has opened a livery barn here, and has added a Ford auto to his equipment.

Mr. Johnston, the moving picture man, has moved his family to the house adjoining the Campbell residence.

Mr. Mitchell, who formerly represented Maple Leaf real estate, was in camp this week boosting Medicine Hat.

Harry Campbell went to Coal Creek Saturday to represent Bellevue athletic association at the league meeting.

The new opera house is well under way, and will likely be completed by the 15th. Mr. Whiller, of Frank, has the contract.

The thief has been busy around Bellevue lately. On Saturday or Sunday evening he stole the value of $150 belonging to J. Willer who were appropriated, and so far the miscreant has not been detected.

The local football players played Michel on the new local grounds on Saturday. The game was fast from the start. Michel won the toss and played the first half with the wind and sun in their favor. Michel scored two goals in the first half. In the second half the Bellevue boys had conditions more in their favor and made the visitors feel that they had some working out for them. Michel played an off-field game from the start of the second half, which was their only chance to keep the score down. After about fifteen minutes Michel scored the first goal for the locals, and from then on there was something doing. The second was following a penalty kick, and about five minutes before time Bellevue scored an extra, the game ending with a score of 3 to 2 in favor of Bellevue. The Bellevue band was in attendance and rendered some choice selections. Some of the ladies from Michel did good boosting for the Michel in the first half, but not so much in the second.
